

Face-to-face conversation evaluation

A buyer checklist for evaluating a folding dual-screen device in short reception and exhibition conversations. This is an evaluation plan, not a specification sheet.

01 Set the use case

Record the reception point, users, priority language pairs and typical short exchanges. Keep specialist discussions and simultaneous interpretation with qualified human support.

02 Inspect the physical sample

Check the closed and opened form, hinge movement, viewing positions, controls, finish and supplied accessories. Record the exact model and configuration.

03 Test languages and connectivity

Request the current language list and online/offline scope. Test representative phrases and confirm Wi-Fi or 4G configuration, SIM requirements and local compatibility.

04 Confirm software conditions

Identify the service provider, supported region, account and network requirements, included allowance, possible charges and data-handling terms.

05 Review the written proposal

Confirm quantity, price, packaging and branding scope, destination documents, dispatch conditions, warranty and shipping responsibility specifically for T90.

Record your sample result, unresolved questions and the written terms required before ordering.
